Hail Kersey, Hail all hail
Noble and strong
To thee with loyal hearts we raise our song
Swelling to heaven loud
Our praises ring
Hail Kersey, Hail all hail of thee we sing.

Hail Kersey, Hail all hail
Guide of our youth
Lead thou thy children on
To light and truth;
Thee when death summons us
Others shall praise
Hail Kersey, Hail all hail through endless days.

Thanks.....

We, the Senior Class of 1958, give thanks to Mr. John Aiello who has assisted us in our four years of high school study, has helped us attain our many goals, and who has advised us in our personal matters.

We take this opportunity to wish him much happiness and success in the future.

A Review Of Yesterdays.....

It is with mixed emotions that we, the graduating Seniors, leave our beloved Fox Township High School. For it is the friendships and experiences shared here which in later years we will hold in our hearts as dearest. Never have we wished away these precious moments, but in the years to come many are the times we shall wish them back. Our wishes will not be in vain, for by summarizing the memory of these golden years may we realize the joys and pains of our yesterdays- "Our golden yesterdays at Fox Township High School" . . . . . .

An Autumn Walk

Autumn leaves were fluttering gently
through the fragrant autumn air,
Offering a gay reminder
That the trees will soon be bare.
Frosty morning breezes blowing
and a hazy sun at noon
Tell us summer's swiftly going;
Winter's coming all too soon.
Time's clock needs no winding,
Needs no setting, and with care
Hours are filled with joy and pleasure
That we all are asked to share.
Such is high school, bright and friendly,
Four short seasons brief and gay,
Leading on to one objective,
Commencement--"the parting of the way"
On this leaf I now have rescued
As I stroll back through the past
I find our Freshman ship a-sailing
With this data on the mast:

Thoughtfully I held this treasure
Hoping for another chance
To review our Sophomore season
If but just one little glance.
Tenderly I picked another,
Tinged with red and green and gold,
Gazed upon it for a moment
And this story did unfold:

Slowly now the sun is sinking,

The gayest and the best.

Giving pleasure in its flight,
Speeds by, oh, so very quickly
Bringing our Commencement Night.

Last Will And Testament

Being of sound mind and body we, the Senior Class of Kersey High, do will and bequeath these, our earthly possesions, to the Junior Class, this ninth day of May, 1958.

To Mr. Aiello, we leave a quiet home room.

To Mr. Hippchen, we leave a class which always understands the English stories.

To Mr. Carpins, we leave a class which always is on its best behavior.

To Mr. Palenski, we leave a class which never has trouble understanding his math problems.

To Mr. Rogan, we leave a Latin class which understands third person pronouns.

To Miss Anderson, we leave a typing class which never leaves eraser dust in the typewriters.

To Mrs. Sicheri, we leave a chorus which never sings off key.

To the Juniors, we leave our ability to stick together in class activities.

To the Sophomores, we leave the ability to enjoy their remaining years in high school.

To the Freshmen, we leave the knowledge accumulated throughout our four years.

To Mrs. Satterlee and Mr. Neureiter, we leave a class which doesn't believe in bothering them for the least little thing.

Kay Anthony wills to Mary Dowie her good luck in P.A.D.

Catherine Antonioli wills to Judy Anzinger her seat; may she enjoy it.

Sue Beveridge wills to Sara McMinn her ability to get along with cheerleaders.

Darlene Bish wills to Karen Lipsey her long hair.

Bonnie Brehm wills to Diane Feldbauer her ability to get her rooms mixed up and wind up in the wrong class.

Diana Carrara wills to Dorothy Benton her ability to keep the car in one solid piece.

Regina Dallasen wills to Karen Olson her ability to get good grades.

Judy Freeburg wills Judy Carlson her old flames because she knows Judy is interested in dying embers.

Sylvia Gatto wills Connie Hrusth her talking ability.

To Joan Edinger, Oney Johnson leaves her book entitled, "How to be a Genius in Four Easy Years".

Avis Kemmer wills to Rita Perry her extra curricular activities.

To Gloria Wildenauer, Patty Thompson wills her ability to take shorthand at 120 words a minute.

Jeannie Gahr and Marylee Green leave their study periods to Charlotte Krise.

Helen Erich leaves her ability to jitterbug to Rita Glass.

To Jerry Cavalline, Dick Dallasen wills his physique and height.

Jim Glass wills his "hot rod" ability to Maxine Mori.

Harry Green leaves his ability to have fun, and yet not make noise, to Rose Dallasen.

Bob Hyatt leaves to Bill Mosier what is left of the "Green Hornet".

Joe Gutowski wills Jim Portzer his dancing ability and his luck in getting flat tires.

Bill Nero leaves Hugh Malone his basketball ability.

To John Secco, Bill Meredith leaves his neat physics book.

Bob Mattiuz wills his ability to get along with other people to Joanne Comiotti.

To Audrey Morelli, Dick Kalgren leaves his black, curly hair.

Bob Sidelinger leaves his sideburns to Gary Lundin.

To Lucy Mattivi, Laverne Schrieber wills all his quiet study periods.

Ken Swanson wills Ronnie Young his ability to stay out of trouble.

Herman Pontzer wills Wayne Hedlund his ability to tell tall tales.

Danny Portzer leaves his ability to have a good time to Bill Pitchler.

Carol Green leaves her ability to raise cain to Janie Johnson.

Janice Wittman and Sandra Sandberg leave their blonde hair to Lindola Wonderling.

Dick Kugler wills Bill Chamberlin his ability to get along with the teachers.

Senior Prophecy

A streamlined rocket ship is loading at Gate 34 of the huge airport in Kersey. Our ship is in the capable hands of pilot Joe Gutowski and co-pilot Dick Kugler. We have no worries about mechanical failure, since our ship was checked by able mechanics, Laverne Schrieber and Jim Glass. Stewardesses, Regina Dallasen and Jeannie Gahr, scan their passenger list and see the names of their classmates and teachers from Kersey in 1958.

We find Bill Nero and Dan Portzer, the former President and Vice President of the Senior Class, in conference. They now control one of the largest airlines between planets. Darlene Bish is the head stenographer for the company.

Sylvia Gatto was the first student to graduate from the Business College founded by Miss Anderson.

Living on a farm back on Earth has been helpful to Bill Meredith. He has the first dairy farm on Saturn.

Dick Kalgren and Dick Dallasen are the star players of the great interplanetary basketball team, "Comets", which is coached by none other than Mr. Aiello.

Mr. Palenski is now heading the math department of one of the largest colleges on Jupiter. His assistant is Avis Kemmer.

A chain of night clubs on Venus has been started by Bob Mattiuz.

By watching the gas pumps at her father's gas station, Sue Beveridge gained experience. She now owns the largest rocket refueling station in the Solar System.

Bob Sidelinger and Ken Swanson, the two "Cool Cats" of the class, now have their own rock and roll orchestra and are on their way to a personal appearance at a night club on Venus.

Diana Carrara, who did such a wonderful job on our yearbook, is the editor of a ladies magazine on Saturn, "The Woman's Home Assistant".

Carol Green, who kept the people in the Senior room laughing, is now doing the same as a famous comedienne.

One of the passengers, becoming air sick, was attended by Sandra Sandberg, flight nurse. Sandra received her training at the Kersey Community Hospital, which is under the supervision of Mrs. Satterlee.

Judy Freeburg and Bob Hyatt are now in partnership selling toothpaste for the "Star Bright Smile".

Herman Pontzer, who was always good at telling a tall-tale while in high school, is now a famous author. His latest book, "Days in Old K.H.S.", is on the best seller list.

There I see Mr. Hippchen trying to teach the English slang to a Martain. He seems to be having trouble.

Kay Anthony, who wanted to be a physical education teacher, is running a physical fitness course for Martian students.

The famed stenographer, Patty Thompson, on her honeymoon, was presented a corsage of rare flowers, grown in Harry Green's greenhouse on Mars. She was the 500th bride on this flight.

Janice Wittman, now Mrs. Gerald Steis, with her daughter, Annette, is on her way to Saturn to meet her husband.

Mrs. Sicheri has started a music college on Saturn and Mr. Carpin is supervising principal of her school.

As a senior, Bruce Shuttleworth showed an interest in models like Jayne Mansfield. He now heads his own modeling agency. He is accomplished by his head models, Oney Johnson and Catherine Antonioli.

Helen Erich, always a fan of jitterbug, now has a chain of dancing schools. She and one of her instructors, Marylee Green, are on their way to Helen's school on Saturn.

If Mr. Rogan thought teaching Latin to K. H. S. students hard, he must think his present job impossible. He is teaching Latin to Jupiterian students.

I, Bonnie Brehm, am going to a private nursing case, a Martian business tycoon now retired.

Our Washington Trip

On May 12, 1958, at 5:30 A. M., a group of sleepy-eyed Seniors, under the supervision of Mr. Aiello and Mrs. Satterlee, left for Washington, D. C.

On our arrival in Washington we were greeted by Mr. Batchler who started us off on one of the most enjoyable trips of our lives.

We visited Mount Vernon and the Lincoln Memorial. At the Arlington National Cemetery we witnessed the impressive ceremony of the changing of the guards.

The Capitol Building was just as beautiful as we expected it to be. The brave ones who climbed to the top of the Washington Monument arrived there breathless, but were thrilled by the view.

Everyone enjoyed the trip to the Lotus Chinese-American Restaurant, and those who tried the Chinese food reported it delicious.

The five Smithsonian Buildings were fascinating. We all wondered how Lindberg had the courage to cross the Atlantic in his "Spirit of St. Louis" which looked so flimsy compared to modern planes.

We were disappointed because the U. S. Mint did not give out samples of its product.

Rather than the Moonlight Excursion down the Potomac, we went to see Cinerama which was a thrilling experience.

After three days of excitement and fun, a group of tired, but happy, Seniors arrived home in Kersey.
